

A black and white photograph of Karen Blixen, a Danish explorer and author, standing in front of a building with columns. She is wearing a wide-brimmed hat and a patterned jacket. To her left is a man in a turban and a light-colored suit. To her right is a young child in a white outfit and a small hat. In the foreground, a large dog is looking towards the camera. In the background, another man in a turban and a white shirt is visible.
